

REMARKS

RECEIVED
JAN 18 2002
TC 1700

Amendment to the Claims

Per the examiner's direction, all the claims have been amended to add the limitation of Claims 4 and 5 into all independent claims. Claims 4 and 5 have been correspondingly canceled.

The Art Rejection

In the Official Action of July 13, the examiner indicates that Claims 4 and 5 would be allowable if rewritten in independent form. While applicant does not concede the examiner's discussion of the prior art uncovered (JP 62-69957) is correct as to novelty or complete as to obviousness, in the interest of early allowance, the claims involved have been modified to incorporate the limitation of Claims 4 and 5 into the independent claims. This is being done without prejudice.

CONCLUSION

Applicants' attorney believes the examiner will find that neither novelty or obviousness are now at issue. Early allowance of the amended claims is therefore requested.

It would be greatly appreciated if the undersigned was telephoned in the event that any questions remain, or are newly raised by this response.

Respectfully submitted,
